Description

Samsung's new range of LED televisions includes models to fit every budget. Both High Definition and Full High Definition options are available, with the 3D features on higher end models of last year expanded to the mid-range models as well. There is a new Smart TV feature which incorporates a full range of web apps as well as full web browsing capabilities and more. You can stream content over a home network, either wired or wireless and also playback movies, photos and music from a USB device. Of course, the stunning aesthetic designs and outstanding market leading picture quality that Samsung is famous for is still present, and in fact further improved.
